

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A presentation system includes a computer unit connected to at least radio transmitter-receiver unit and a display device, a plurality of mobile terminal devices communicating with the computer unit via the radio transmitter-receiver unit, and control unit incorporated in the computer unit to provide input information from the mobile terminal devices on the display device, reflecting information from mobile terminal devices on a screen of the display device.